

In 2017, 48 million people were exposed to Street Art for Mankind around the world. Below is a non exhaustive list of Newspapers who communicated on Street Art for Mankind events.

MIAMI
New Times

The 21 Best Things to Do in Miami This Week

BY NEW TIMES STAFF AND CONTRIBUTORS

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 8, 2017 AT 8:05 A.M.

Friday: Snarky Puppy at GroundUp Music Festival.

Photo courtesy of Stella K / Christian Thomas Hynes

MIAMI
New Times

The Best Things to Do in Miami This Weekend

BY CLARISSA RUCH

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 10, 2017 AT 8:05 A.M.

Street Art for Mankind

SAM

STREET ART FOR MANKIND

THE MOVEMENT

The Sound

The Opportunity

The Event: Street Art For Mankind

eventful

Miami Art Week Kick-Off Party in Miami Beach

THINK SHARE

November 20, 2016 - November 30, 2016

127 Collins Avenue, Miami Beach, Florida 33139

View Details

Jazz of Miami

Miami Art Week Kick-Off Party

11/29/16

127 Collins Avenue, Miami Beach, Florida 33139

View Details

SHILL MONSTER
Founded in 1986, La Petite Maison became a favorite of super-intimate... jpetitemaison.com

THE COFFEEWORK
After nearly a decade of operations, Café Bastille needed a upgrade... coffework.com

ALL NIGHT LONG
Renowned local artist believes that French cuisine is always a good idea... paris6kitchen.com

MUST-ORDER
The annual... miamiartweek.com

Art lovers in Miami's Little River help stop child slavery

Street Art For Mankind recruits some 30 artists for massive exhibit

MIAMI - Street Art For Mankind is a week-long urban art event in Miami's Little River district that is focused on helping to stop child slavery.

It started on Friday with the opening of a massive exhibit of 36 canvases featuring artwork by some 30 artists - including Zuzi from Colombia, Dineo from Brazil, Kiriko from Mexico and nine local artists: Alex, CPL, Hooch, Kaifia, Nola Das, Remo, Sergio, Trekk and Yuhai.

SAVE THE DATE: CHILDREN FIRST

Street Art For Mankind is an important cause behind it. The festival features 10 days of interactive workshops, concerts and art projects aimed at raising funds for the Kailash Institute Children's Foundation, an organization founded by the 2014 Nobel Peace Prize winner to fight child exploitation. "Our team believes that we can trigger social change," says "Nola Das, the event's co-founder. "We are committed to young Kailash in fighting child slavery one brushstroke at a time." Feb. 10-20. www.kailash.org

SCENE: ART OF LEGENDARITY

CHILD PROOF

A NEBULA PRIZE PRIZE WINNER AND THE WORLD'S TOP... childproof.com

WE ARE OPENING THE EYES OF THE

RADIO CARACOL 1260 AM

happenings film, art & culture

Feb. 16-20

BENISE

...to the... SAM... Street Art for Mankind... a nonprofit public charity that promotes art for social change... has engaged dozens of artists worldwide for creating their talents and talents in public spaces. Pictured above is a huge mural featured by SAM... currently on view at 7401 MW Merritt Ct in Little River, Miami. What follows are several more images — some just seen this past week in Miami and others, each set up month in New York City at the closing ceremony for SAM... the first United Nations exhibit featuring street art.

Street Art for Mankind Battles Child Slavery with: Bruno Smoky & Shalakh Attack, Mr. Cenz, Mr. Dheo, Victor Ash, Jo Di Bona, Trek6 and more

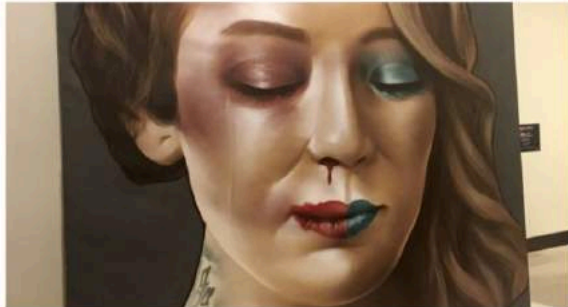

In its mission to shed light on the plight of child workers and raise funds to help end child slavery, Street Art for Mankind — a nonprofit public charity that promotes art for social change — has engaged dozens of artists worldwide for creating their talents and talents in public spaces. Pictured above is a huge mural featured by SAM... currently on view at 7401 MW Merritt Ct in Little River, Miami. What follows are several more images — some just seen this past week in Miami and others, each set up month in New York City at the closing ceremony for SAM... the first United Nations exhibit featuring street art.

À l'ONU, du street art contre l'esclavage infantile

Par Jules Varlet - 18 janvier 2017

Street Art For Mankind

...to the... SAM... Street Art for Mankind... a nonprofit public charity that promotes art for social change... has engaged dozens of artists worldwide for creating their talents and talents in public spaces. Pictured above is a huge mural featured by SAM... currently on view at 7401 MW Merritt Ct in Little River, Miami. What follows are several more images — some just seen this past week in Miami and others, each set up month in New York City at the closing ceremony for SAM... the first United Nations exhibit featuring street art.

ESCALE : une exposition d'art urbain pour combattre l'esclavage des enfants

Rani, 15 ans - Peinture dans un village au Népal - Artiste: Kerey, Mexique - Photo: Florence Westergaard

Cette semaine, Escalé se penche sur l'art urbain avec Audrey Decker et Thibault Decker, co-organisateur d'une exposition récemment inaugurée au Siège de l'ONU à New York.

Regroupant le travail de 15 artistes au parcours différent, l'exposition RAHThouAge entend attirer l'attention sur les souffrances des enfants qui vivent dans l'esclavage.

Les artistes ont été invités à réfléchir, dans leur œuvre, aux histoires vécues de ces enfants, et leurs larmes doivent ensuite être vendues aux enchères au bénéfice d'organisations de sauvegarde de l'enfance.

Dans les studios d'ONU Info, les deux fondateurs de l'ONG « Street Art For Mankind », racontent sur l'origine du projet et ses ambitions.

- Audio :
- Interview : Audrey Decker et Thibault Decker, fondateurs de l'ONG « Street Art For Mankind »
 - Interview, présentation, production et mixage : Isabelle Dupuis
 - Prise de son : Carlos Macias
- Vidéo :
- Interview, présentation, production et montage : Florence Westergaard